water bag cover

Pros: water-bag cover

- cheap

Cons: water-bag cover

- hassle to fill and empty water bags
- trouble moving weighted objects
- bags can puncture and leak
- not a barrier to intrusion
- can entrap human, pet or wildlife
- collects strewn trash and debris
- cumbersome to install and remove
- unbecoming and disheveled appearance
- short lifespan (prone to holes, rips, etc.)

Safety Cover

A safety cover provides so many more benefits than a tarp beginning with the essential prevention of incidental or accidental entry by human, pet or wildlife. As listed below, a properly installed safety cover serves many purposes in addition to safety.

Pros: safety cover

- prohibits entry by either human, pet or wildlife
- prevents incidental and accidental injury
- keeps debris from entering the pool
- protection from the winter elements
- helps to maintain clean pool water
- easy to install and remove as well as store
- visually pleasing (and available in multiple colors)
- 15 to 20 year life span (amortized cost is nominal)

Cons: safety cover

- not cheap

These many functions and benefits coupled with the amortization of the cost over its lifetime will help you justify the cost of a quality safety cover.

Introduction

Prior to the safety cover, the role of a winter pool cover was primarily to keep debris and dirt from entering the pool. Today, safety covers have been designed to fulfill additional objectives and benefits.

They include:

- prohibit entry by human, pet or wildlife
- prevent incidental mishap and injury
- keep debris from entering the pool
- protection from the winter elements
- helps to maintain clean pool water

Water-bag Cover

A water bag cover is essentially a tarp which is kept in place by water bags (and/or blocks and other weighted objects).

In the context of safety, a tarp not only fails to keep human, pet or wildlife from incidental or accidental entry, it actually creates a false sense of stability to an unaware intruder (human, pet or wildlife) as they may construe the tarp as being a weight-bearing surface. Furthermore, a tarp can entrap and hide an accidental entry.

Heavy-Duty Springs

Forged of thick gauge steel, Coverlon's springs are engineered to handle the immense stress caused by the weight and pulling of the cover:

- the USA made heavy-duty stainless steel springs will not bend, elongate or deform
- contour of springs eliminates gaps and points of entry for debris between the cover and decking
- plastic sleeves are provided for each spring to protect the pool deck and the spring from abrasion

Anchors and End Caps

The anchors keep the safety cover locked down to the pool decking, and the end caps keep the buckles and straps from defraying:

- forged of non-corrosive brass, the anchors consist of a 2-part assembly of male and female parts
NOTE: matching brass collars are optional and available at an additional cost
- drilled and installed flush to the pool decking, the threaded mechanism is easily adjusted for use
- anodized black brass end caps are machine crimped and prevent the webbing from unraveling

People You Can Trust

Since the 2005 inception of AquaThORITY Pools and Spas, LLC, founders Bob and Debi Nask, and Tim and Jackie DeMirjian have been practicing what they preach to their employees and promise their customers throughout Chester, Delaware and Montgomery counties: be responsive, accountable and honest.

While this mandate is always welcomed and refreshing in the home contracting business, it's proven to be especially appreciated in the pool business: where a homeowner's experience with pool companies, and contractors as a whole, too often are negative due to no-shows, poor performance and lack of trust.

AquaThORITY is different. We do not subcontract.

Whether it's a routine pool opening, closing or service call, or a more involved pool repair, equipment installation or renovation, AquaThORITY honors its commitments by performing the work as promised and expected.

For those homeowners who have had trouble tracking-down contractors in the past, you'll be pleased to know that AquaThORITY does not subcontract; our employees perform all the work with owner oversight.

Also, unlike contractors who are typically "one and done", AquaThORITY is a service provider and will always be in the neighborhood providing the ongoing pool services our over 1,000 customers have come to rely upon.

Learn about us...through our customers.

We encourage you to call our references to seek their personal experience with AquaThORITY. And read our reviews on Angie's List from whom we received the distinguished Super Service award.

We appreciate your consideration and hope that you'll choose AquaThORITY Pools and Spas, LLC, the clear choice in pool care.
